SUPERCITY STUPID HOCKEY LEAGUE GM PLEDGE

I will respond to all pool-related email in a timely manner, and will give each trade offer the consideration it deserves.

I will ensure a trade report is sent after every transaction that I make.

I will periodically review my listing on the Roster Reference page, especially after drafts and transactions, to ensure it is accurate.

I will submit my frozen roster and throwbacks list before the stated deadlines, and without excessive prompting from the league office.

I will participate in the annual entry and waiver drafts, or make arrangements for my picks if I am unable to attend.

I will keep my team manager page up-to-date, and will immediately notify the league office of any technical issues.

I acknowledge that the league office keeps track of over 800 drafted players and 364 entry draft picks spread amongst 26 franchises in 2 time zones, and that all league office rulings are made in the best interest of maintaining overall pool integrity.

I will abide by all league office rulings in matters of controversy or conflict.

THE GENERAL MANAGERS OF THE SUPERCITY STUPID HOCKEY LEAGUE

SSHL RULE REFRESHER

ACTIVE ROSTERS

You should have 18 skaters and two goalies with NHL stats on your active roster at all times. If you have less than the required number of players with NHL stats available, you can use non-NHLers to fill out your active roster. If you have more than the required number of players with NHL stats available, your active roster must reflect your best possible team. That means you must ice the team that puts you in the highest position in the standings.

Your 18 skaters will include 10 forwards, six defensemen, and two wild cards (which can be either forwards or defensemen). After slotting players into these 18 positions you must then designate the player with the most PIMs as your Goon, and the player with the second-most PIMs as your DH. All stats accumulated by your Goon and your DH will be included in your totals, with the exception of their PIMs (see PIM Ratio explanation below).

LEAGUE STANDINGS

There are nine categories used to generate the standings: seven for offensive totals (goals, assists, points, powerplay goals, shorthanded goals, plus/minus, and PIM Ratio) and two for goaltending totals (Goalie Combo and minutes played). Each team is ranked in each of the categories, and points are awarded accordingly. For example, the team with the most goals will score 26 points in the goals category, the team with the second-most goals will score 24 points in the goals category, the team with the third-most goals will score 23 points in the goals category, all the way down to the team with the least goals, which will score zero points in the goals category. Since there are 26 teams and nine categories, the maximum number of points a team can be awarded is $26 \times 9 = 234$.

Your Goalie Combo is $(WINS \times 20) - (GAA \times 100)$. For example, if a goalie has 40 wins and a GAA of 2.00, his Goalie Combo is $800 - 200 = 600$. Note that, when calculating the Goalie Combo for your team, you first combine the goalies' stats, then do the calculation; you don't calculate each combo separately and then add them together.

Your PIM Ratio is the total of all your player's PIMs divided by all their total games played. A lower PIM Ratio results in more points being awarded to your team in this category. Note that the PIMs accumulated by your Designated Hitter do not count toward your total, and the PIMs accumulated by your Goon are subtracted from your total. Therefore, the PIM Ratio formula is $(\text{Total PIMs of 16 active skaters excluding the DH total and subtracting the Goon total}) \div (\text{Total games played by all 18 active skaters})$.

ROSTER FREEZES

The league's active roster freeze occurs after the waiver draft; at this time, all GMs must submit their list of forwards, defensemen, wild cards, DH, goon, and goalies. This roster must match your team manager page, and, after the active roster freeze occurs, no further changes can be made to your team manager page until the end of the season. Note that you do not have to ice the team that puts you in the highest position in the standings at the time of the active roster freeze, but you do have to ice the team that can be reasonably expected to put you in the highest position in the standings at the end of the season.

The league's preseason roster freeze occurs before the entry draft; at this time, all GMs must submit their list of nine forwards, five defensemen, one wild card (either a forward or a defensemen), two goalies, and 10 farmers. All other players above this 27-player roster limit must then be thrown back into the pool. Two types of players qualify as farmers: players that were rookies in the most recent season (had not played more than 25 games in any single season, nor in six or more games in each of any two seasons), and goalies that played less than 1,000 minutes in the most recent season.

DRAFT PROCEDURES

The last-place GM at the end of the season gets the first pick in the next entry draft, and the first-place GM gets the last pick. Each of the seven entry draft rounds will feature this same selection order. You can use your draft picks to select any player not currently on an SSHL roster, regardless of their NHL status. Only picks from the next two entry drafts can be traded. Therefore, you cannot trade 2008 picks until after the 2006 entry draft is completed, you cannot trade 2009 picks until after the 2007 entry draft is completed, etc.

The selection order for the waiver draft will be set at the trade deadline. The last-place GM at this time gets the first pick in the waiver draft, and the first-place GM gets the last pick. There is only one round in the waiver draft. Waiver picks can be traded, but a GM can only own or make a maximum of two selections in the waiver draft. To be eligible for selection in the waiver draft, a player must not currently be on an SSHL roster, and must have played at least one NHL game in the current season. After you have made your waiver draft selection, you must then throw back two players from your current roster. Thrown back players are not eligible for selection in the waiver draft. However, once the waiver draft is complete, the bottom five GMs (in reverse order) can each select one player from the pool of throwbacks. Picks in this second waiver draft cannot be traded.

TIEBREAKING PROCEDURES

If two teams are tied in the standings, the team with the most points will be placed higher. If still tied, the team with the most first places will be placed higher. If still tied, the team with the most goals will be placed higher. If still tied, a coin toss will decide the standings.

For individual player prizes, if two players are tied for . . .

- . . . most goals, the player with the most points wins.
- . . . most points, the player with the most goals wins.
- . . . highest plus/minus, the player with the most points wins.
- . . . highest goalie combo, the goalie with the most minutes wins.
- . . . most shorties, the player with the most overall goals wins, then to points if still tied.
- . . . most PIMs, the player who has played fewer games wins, then to points if still tied.
